Where are we now?

The IT team is presently working on designing the platform. Each partner is preparing the initial case studies to be included in the platform. In January 2024, focus groups will be organized to gain more insight into the needs of teachers and to receive feedback on the pilot version of the platform.

Academic articles featuring the data collected during the platform preparation process are planned for publication.

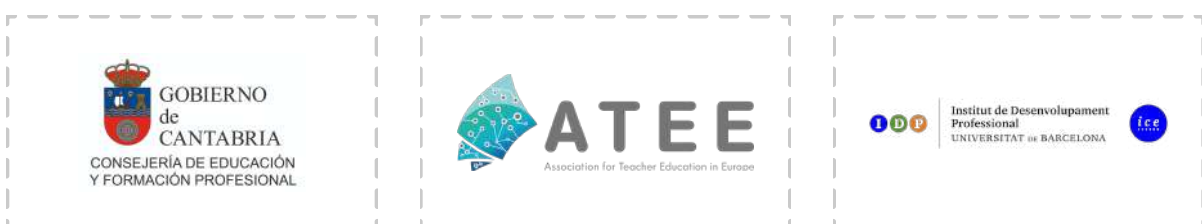

We are looking forward to meeting again in spring 2024 at Palacký University Olomouc.
